F GAS RECORD KEEPING REQUIRMENTS

Regulations concerning the usage of Fluorinated refrigerant gases have now encompassed the transport refrigeration industry.

One of the requirements incorporates record keeping and necessity for the contractor and owner to record specific information whenever refrigerant has to be recovered, added or removed and to keep those records for a minimum of 5 years.

Another requirement is that each vehicle/ trailer over 3.5 tonne gross weight must have an annual leak test and record of this must be kept for at least 5 years.

We have been in close communications with REFCOM and DEFRA to enable us to comply with all the regulatory requirements and have produced a template/ certificate for keeping such records.

We are now able to offer to complete leak testing and record keeping to allow you to comply with the regulations.

We are now able to offer complete leak testing a record keeping, which can be carried out during your fridge unit's routine service to minimize downtime. This will involve a minimal extra cost to the service.

The timescale to have the leak tests carried out is between 10/01/2015 and 31/12/2015 therefore, the tests can be spread out across your fleet as required.
